

"The Incarnation" Pleases Audience The Second Time

By request of many who heard its previous presentation, Adam Gebels cantata, "The Incarnation," was repeated last Monday night by the choir of Dunbarton M. E. Church with great success. It is a pleasure to hear such a composition given in the way the choir presented it under Mr. Glover's direction and those who heard "The Incarnation" the second time readily understood the demand for its repetition.

The choruses were sung in good style, the men's chorus being particularly effective. One of the features of the recital was the unaccompanied quartet sung by Miss Beale Burch, soprano; Mrs. J. A. Houghton, contralto; P. L. Scantling, tenor, and John Waters, bass. Mr. Glover, director of the choir, is a musician whose success in other like positions, particularly that of Christ Church, Georgetown, where his efforts were so signally successful, is well known in the local musical world.

St. Aloysius' Roman Catholic Church, one of the largest churches of any denomination in the District, will do away with the gallery choir of men and women, who have for years rendered the music at the stately services for which this church is noted, and in its place, a choir of fifty men and boys will render the music commencing Easter Sunday. The present choir, which for the past twelve years has been under the direction of Mr. Stephen J. Kubel, has been notified by the pastor, the Rev. Father Himmel, that they will no longer be needed after the Sunday preceding Easter.

The only other churches which have, so far, organized a boy choir, are St. Paul's, which has the only sanctuary choir, and Holy Trinity and Immaculate Conception, which have boy choirs singing in the gallery.

The soloists for "The Redemption," to be given by the Choral Society February 27 in New Carroll Hall, will be Miss Florence Hinkle, soprano, of New York; Nicholas Dosty, of Philadelphia; tenor; John Humbird Duffey, baritone, of New York, and Charles Belmont, of New York, bass.

Excellent work is being done by the chorus and orchestra, both of which are under the leadership of Heinrich Hammer of Göteborg. Rehearsals of the chorus are held every Monday evening in George Washington University, and those of the orchestra every Saturday evening in St. Stephen's parish hall, Fourteenth street and Columbia road.

The orchestra, which is an amateur organization, is doing good work and has made much progress, as might be expected with such an able conductor as Heinrich Hammer, who is well known abroad as a conductor of high standing.

The chorus also has made a marked improvement. Toward the end of the month the orchestra and chorus will have joint rehearsals each week.

Miss Lillian Chenoweth, contralto, presented a program of songs last Thursday afternoon in the reading room for the blind in the Library of Congress. She was assisted in the recital by Mark Lansburgh, violinist, and J. Edgar Robinson, pianist.

Russian Pianist's Recital At the National Tuesday

MME. SAMAROFF,
Celebrated Russian Pianist, Who Will Be Heard in a Concert Tuesday Afternoon.

Mme. Samaroff Pleases Audience in Many Music Centers.

Mme. Samaroff, the celebrated Russian pianist, will give a recital at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the National Theater.

Mme. Samaroff has attained an international reputation and comes to Washington with the approval of other music centers, where she has appeared this season. Her program will be varied and will offer students and musicians alike an entertainment of unusual merit.

Washington music lovers, particularly those who are regular attendants at the concerts of the Philadelphia Orchestra, will be interested to hear of the marked success attained last Friday by the orchestra when Conductor Pohlig included one of his own compositions in the program. The work was a symphonic poem, entitled "Per Aspera ad Astra," and was played Friday for the first time in America. The audience gave Mr. Pohlig and the composition an ovation and the press of Philadelphia on the following day was loud in its praises for the merits of the new work. It is not unlikely that Pohlig may give the composition here during one of its later concerts.

Arthur Whiting gave a novel recital last Friday in the Washington Club under the auspices of the Friday Morning Music Club, when his program was designed for piano and harpsichord. The numbers included works of Brahms, Mozart, Bach, Rameau, and Scarlatti.

Mrs. Grace Dyer-Knight was hostess Thursday afternoon at a musicale at Rauscher's, when she was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. Wright, wife of R. R. Wright, former mayor of Denver. An unusually ambitious program was presented by some of Mrs. Dyer-Knight's most efficient pupils and their work was a surprise not only to their friends but to the entire audience, made up largely of representatives of the diplomatic and social world of Washington.

Miss Sullie T. Mason, whose piano work is so well known and so pleasing here, assisted in the accompaniments. Irving Boernstein, violinist, and Antonio Celso, cellist, were the assisting soloists. Mr. Boernstein gave evidence of promise, playing several numbers with excellent tone coloring. Mr. Celso's best work was probably done in his skillful reading of the obligato to "Charmant Oiseau." Among those who participated in the program were Miss Elizabeth Hewry, Miss Almyra Sessions, Miss Edith Spofford, Mrs. E. E. Curry,

Miss Courtney Collins, and Miss Hilda Koehler.

The third young people's musicale will be given at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the University of Music and Dramatic Art under the direction of Mme. Marie von Unschuidt.

An interesting event of the coming spring musical season will be the joint appearance of Josef Hofmann and Fritz Kreisler at the Columbia Theater, April 24, under the management of Miss Cryder.

Miss Francesa Kaspar will give a song recital in Hagerstown, Md., January 21, at 8 p. m. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Lake Mohonk conference on International Arbitration. Admission is by tickets, to be obtained at the university.

WANT MONEY TO PAY FOR TRUST-BUSTING

Attorney General Bonaparte and United States District Attorney Stimson, of New York, yesterday appealed to the House Committee on Appropriations for more money with which to keep the trust-busting machinery of the Government going during the "remainder of the fiscal year."

Stimson said that his office needed additional lawyers on account of the recent grand jury investigations into corrupt banking methods.

Annual reduction sale

Women's "distinctive" outer garments

The policy of this store is well defined—no garments carried over. Stocks must be kept new and fresh, and only the most exclusive, up-to-the-minute fashions are shown. Hence these fearful reductions:

$21 for $35 and $40 suits.

Of chiffon, in black and colors, and of fancy novelty mixtures.

$15 and $25 for $50 and $60 velvet suits.

$18.50 for $30 and $35 black cloth coats.

Either the loose or tight-fitting effects.

1/3 off all evening and opera coats.

Good variety, which includes some exquisite creations—and all exclusive fashions. Original prices were exceedingly reasonable.

$5 for $7.50 black taffeta silk underskirts.

$5 for all $10 and $12 trimmed hats.

$1.25 for $2 black and tan Ingrain silk hose.

Women's $5, $4, and $3.50 "Dorothy Dodd" shoes reduced to $2.65 pair.

Twice a year we're favored by the makers of the celebrated "Dorothy Dodd" footwear with several hundred pairs which they've used as "samples." This season's lot is now being offered—of patent cord, gun metal, and vici kid—in button, lace, and blucher styles. $2.65—the same shoes which all season have been $5, $4, and $3.50.
